H. H. Graddy Wins
The straw vote that was taken in the Curtail precinct between W. H. O'Brian, C. S. Williams and H. H. Graddy to find out which was the strongest man in the Sheriff's race, and the other two would pull off and support the other, resulted in a victory for Graddy, who won over his contestants by 15. True to their promise, the other men have dropped out of the race and are now for Mr. Graddy. This is new in Politics in Hopkins County and shows which man was the stronger of the three. This race will be the hardest fought of any, and it is anybody race. Earlington is very much split up on this race and all of them will get some votes here.

The public is invited to attend these services. The aim of this church is to serve the community so then feel that it is your service. The invitation means you, "Bring the children."

The Princess Movie will start a popularity contest Saturday and will give a gold watch and two 26 pieces of Silverware to three Earlington ladies read all about it in this paper.

Sells Interest In Princess Movie
Mr. Roy Forrester has sold his half interest in the Princess Movie to J. E. Fawcett and he is now sole owner of this place of amusement. Mr. Forrester disposed of his interest on account of not being able to give his time to it. The present owner will continue to give the people of Earlington four licensed films each night and will also give away twelve premiums each night. Just what these premiums are to be will be advertised on the bills gotten out for each show. Some of them will be more valuable than others but they will all be useful articles. The Princess Movie is the only show in this section of the country that puts on four reels every night for ten cents and they were not forced to do it. They did it of their own free will and because they thought the people of Earlington should have the best going for their money. The Princess Movie is giving you the very best it can for the money and asks a share of your patronage. Four more fans have been ordered and the place will be kept cool. A cooler of ice water will be kept in a convenient place and everything possible will be done for the comfort of the patrons. Now come to the Princess, boast the Princess for its your show and if there is any thing there you see that doesn't suit you, say so and it will be remedied if possible. We wish to take this opportunity to thank the people who have so liberally patronized the Princess since it opened and assure you we appreciate it every time you come.

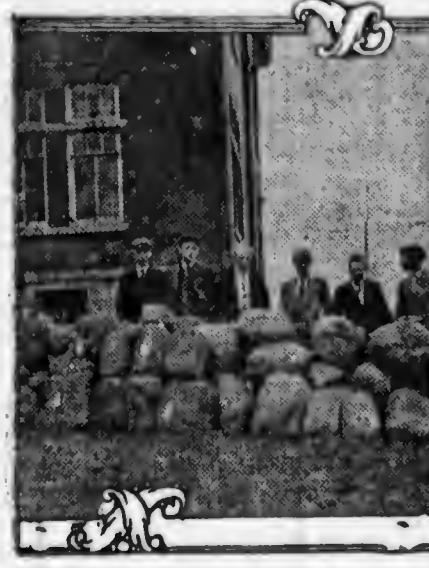

DEPARTING FROM OLD TRADITIONS

High Schools Aid In Developing Kentucky Fruit Growing.

60,000 TREES IN ONE PLOT.

Extensive Apple Growing Associations Launched in Rowan and Hardin Counties—Movement Means Wider Use of Agriculture and Horticulture in Rural High Schools of the State.

The present year has seen a great impetus given to the fruit growing interests in Kentucky. Two different sections of the state have launched extensive co-operative apple growing associations. Both in Rowan and in Hardin counties the work has been helped and developed by our state department of agriculture. The department has furnished these counties

60,000 NEWLY GRAFTED APPLE TREES with four standard varieties of apple trees free of charge and has also agreed to advise and train the members of the association in the care and general cultivation of the young trees and orchards during the next five years.

When the newly grafted young trees were received by the association in Rowan county they were divided among the members, to be placed in home gardens for the summer's growth. In Hardin county it was decided best to plant and cultivate the 60,000 young trees in one nursery plot. While plans were being discussed as to the best place and manner of caring for this nursery work the agricultural class of the county high school offered to take the trees and carry them through the summer until transplanting time next autumn.

Just next to the high school at Elizabethtown a fertile piece of sod land was broken and carefully prepared for the tender young stock. The day the planting took place was made something of a gala day for the students, especially as two experts from the state agricultural station, a government expert and a Louisville newspaper man came to inspect the work.

When the 60,000 trees, enough to set 1,500 acres, were stuck in the side yard they did not look as if they would require much time to plant. But after the bundles were opened and tiny bunches that could be held in one hand were seen to contain seventy-five or a hundred small trees the boys started first at the bundles and then at the well worked ground.

The splendid part of this work lies in the fact that the high school is stepping outside of the old, narrow, musty limits of educational tradition and is doing something of very definite value for the community. It will undoubtedly be of great benefit to the boys who do the work, their fathers, their friends and neighbors. In gaining a new viewpoint of what education will mean in the coming years.

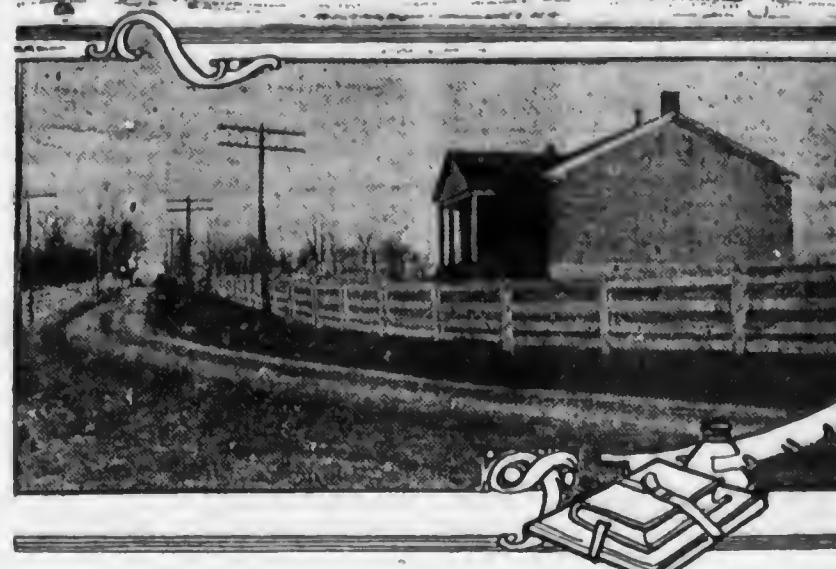

The development of Kentucky's resources should be the first aim of every citizen, and when the enormous practical value of this work is realized it will give a great impetus to every form of agricultural endeavor.

If this work is a pronounced success this year it will naturally mean a wider use of agriculture and horticulture in our rural high schools over the whole state. When this comes it will also mean that each community will be willing to put much larger sums of money into its school than it has in the past. Let us hope that many high schools will follow this splendid start.

Kentucky's Consolidated Schools

CHILDREN are very much like their parents. They do enjoy a good time with congenial people of their own age. In any one room schoolhouse, no matter how fine it may be, the chances are that there will be very few children in the upper grades. These older children crave companionship and often drop out of school for no other reason. In fact, it is not at all unusual to overhear conversations like the following:

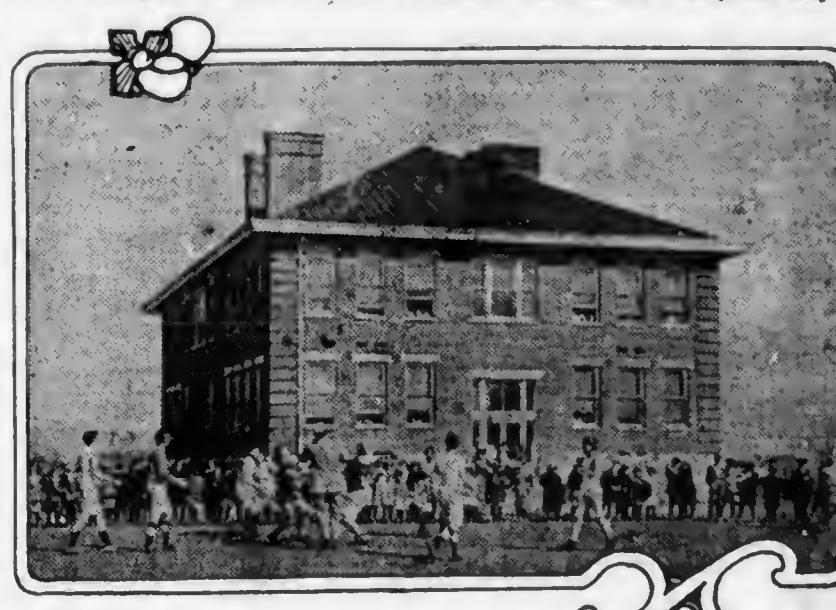

"What's the matter? You ain't going to stop school?" "Yes; I'm goin' to stop. I'm past fifteen." "But you ain't through school yet?" "No; I know I ain't, but I'm tired to death of goin' to school every day with a big bunch of little kids. I don't like the boys to see me walkin' with all those youngsters taggin' along the road with me. I'm goin' to stop tomorrow."

If parents would only question their children of school age carefully they would soon gain their individual viewpoint. The child's viewpoint may not be well taken; but, nevertheless, it is his or her viewpoint and therefore has value. It is always good policy to SUGAR COAT EVERY EDUCATIONAL PILL. The small school can never afford the pleasure and the exhilaration which large numbers of children of the same school age can give. The consolidated schools are particularly strong in this hold upon the older pupils.

How Can They Get to School?

WHENEVER any one speaks of the consolidation of several schools the above question is at once asked, as though it settled the whole matter for all time to come. There is an almost universal feeling against consolidation in many rural districts. There is a feeling that the children should get to school as their parents and grandparents did.

In several sections where consolidated schools have been established in this state (and there are many such sections at this writing) the pupils go back and forth to school on the interurban cars. Naturally, this plan is a very great success. In other sections where there are no trolley lines wagons are used. Some of these wagons are built to accommodate as many as twenty children, so that the cost of transportation per child is not great after the original investment in the wagon is taken out.

"Too expensive," some one says. Well, that depends on what you mean

TRANSPORTATION TO GREENDALE SCHOOL, FAYETTE CO. by expensives. It may cost a little more money to get the children to and from school, but there will be fewer colds and coughs to contend with. There will be fewer children behind in their studies because they could not get to school on account of the weather. It is at least worth looking into, especially as some neighborhoods in the state are using transportation with great success and satisfaction to the general public.

Folk Day at Our Chautauqua.

HON. JOSEPH W. FOLK.

HON. JOSEPH W. FOLK is too well known to really need any mention here, and his coming to this city will be a notable event in the history of this community. The record of all the reforms he inaugurated while he held office in Missouri would of themselves more than fill this page. Governor Folk is regarded as the pioneer in the great modern fight against graft which is now going on everywhere both in the state and the nation. As governor he put an end to boddling in legislative affairs. He abolished the practice of legislators and officials riding on free passes. He procured the passage of an act after a hard legislative fight repealing race track laws whereby gambling was legalized and put the most powerful and insolent race track syndicate in the world out of business. He stamped out grafters in the police departments, he appointed men of the highest character to all positions of public trust, closed the gambling dives in St. Louis and enforced the law closing saloons on Sunday in the face of intense opposition and denunciation. Governor Folk is still carrying the banner for purity in politics. Freedom from officeholding has but given him more time to fight the good fight. Whereas St. Louis was his battlefield, then Missouri, it is now a national issue, and Folk of Missouri is spreading a new civic gospel which reaches back to Calvary and the Golden Rule and is spreading from the Empire State to California, is bearing good fruit on the bloody ground of Kentucky and raising new standards in Louisiana.

BIG EVENT CHAUTAUQUA WEEK.

CONCERNING the Ben Greet Players, who are to appear here Chautauqua week in the rendition of a Shakespearean play, the Kennebec Journal, Augusta, Me., recently said: "Seventeen hundred people were present at the city hall Monday night at the opening of the Augusta entertainment course and for more than two hours were in ecstasies of delight and laughter over the splendid production by the Ben Greet Players. The company was the genuine Ben Greet Players, and people were present in the audience who had paid $2 and $3 elsewhere to see the same production. The company contains seven of the original players who came with Mr. Greet from England twelve years ago, while the remaining six have been with him for several years in his greatest successes. * * * The management of the Augusta Entertainment Course is certainly to be congratulated upon giving the Augusta public such a splendid entertainment. * * * The acting could not have been bettered."

CHAT OVERHEARD AT LOCAL STORE

Two Men Discuss the Present Schoolbook Law.

BOTH AGREE IT IS UNJUST.

To have the County Authorities Select the Children's Schoolbooks Often Means a Hardship For the Parents and a Loss of Valuable Time to the Pupil.

"Say, Bill, somebody told me the county is to select the children's schoolbooks for next year."

"Yep, that's what the fellers round the courthouse say. It's a new law again."

"So I reckon they've gone back to the one we had a good while ago. Well, all I can say is I'm mighty sorry."

"Why? Don't you think our folks can select good schoolbooks?"

"Course they can, but that ain't the point I'm drivin' at. Look here, you're leasin' a farin' same as I am, ain't you?"

"Yep."

"Well, suppose you buy your boy an' girl a set of books for school next fall, an' then 'bout the Christmas holidays you go over into the Big Bull Skin neighborhood just across the county line."

"By George, I hadn't thought about that side of the question!"

"Course you didn't, 'cause your kids are just little fellers, an' they ain't been to school long. But you wait until you have a whole raft of 'em, like I've got, an' then you'll understand what a big thing it can be. I remember mighty well one time when I moved from one county into another. The move wasn't more than five miles either, an' the new books I had to buy for my four children cost me $9."

"That's mighty tough, an' I don't wonder you're kickin' about it."

"If the cost of the books was all of it it wouldn't be so bad. I've got a heap bigger kick comin' than just the cost of the books."

"What is it?"

"What hurts me is that sometimes a child'll lose a lot of valuable time. There's my oldest boy. He's gone on sixteen, an' he's through the eighth grade an' ready for the high school. He'd been through almost two years of high school work if he hadn't lost time changin' from one school to another."

The man was silent for a moment before he continued sadly: "The boy's a big for his age, an' now he's goin' to work because he feels he is too big an' old to go through high school. The changin' round means that my boy won't take a high school education like he planned to. Just the other day I saw in a paper where the average pay for the men who had only gone through the eight grades was almost $400 less than that of the feller who had had a high school course. If that's so my boy'll stand to lose almost $8,000 in hard money in the next twenty years of his life. He'll lose enough through the changes in his school to buy him a first class farm."

The men were silent again for a few moments. At length one spoke up. "Kinder strange how all of us fellers talk an' plan how things ought to be run at Washington," he said. "We talk of who should be president an' all that. An' we won't take the trouble to try to straighten out a schoolbook law in Kentucky that means money out of our pockets every time we move an' money out of our children's pockets for the rest of their natural lives."

"Say, let's all agree to watch the schools just a little bit, an' let's get busy with our next legislature an' see if us fellers that stand between the plow handles an' feed folks can't have things fixed to suit our pocketbooks an' to make it better for our children."

The New Schoolbook Law.

A strong effort is expected to be made at the next session of the general assembly to amend the textbook law, possibly restoring the system of state selection. The present law provides that each county shall choose its own textbooks through a commission composed of a member of the county board, a member of the board of examiners and a county school principal. The old contract will expire next year, and as no selections have ever been made by county commissions those in favor of state selections are desirous of securing legislative action restoring it before the county commissions have a chance to act. Under the old state system the county judges, county superintendents and county attorneys voted on the textbooks and a majority ruled. Some form of legislation will be considered by the Kentucky Educational Association at its meeting in Louisville, April 30, and probably a draft of the measure favored by a majority will be prepared for submission to the general assembly.—Editorial, Louisville.

There Can Be No Doubt About The Results in Earlington

Results tell the tale.
All doubt is removed.

The testimony of an Earlington citizen.

Can be easily investigated.
What better proof can be had?

Mrs. Henry Clements, Earlington Ky., says: "I was in such great pain from kidney trouble that I had to scream aloud. The pains seemed more than I could endure. I do not know what caused the trouble. My back was so sore and lame that I had to catch hold of chairs when walking. My limbs were swollen and my sight became affected. I was nervous and dizzy and my head ached nearly all the time. One day a relative called on me and asked me if I had ever tried Doan's Kidney Pills. She said that if three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills did not do any good, she would pay for them and insisted so persistently that I at last got some. They made me feel much better in every way. I believe that they saved my life. I am now entirely cured and enjoying better health than I have for years."

Legally Dead And Restored to Life
In 1828 Capt. Jonathan Merry of Marblehead, Mass., died, leaving to his heirs a claim against the French government for seizure of his schooner, the "Polly," captured by French pirates. Sixty years later the sum of $27,000 was awarded to his estate. One of the heirs, Miss Mabel E. Allen of 260 Henry St., Brooklyn, N. Y., could not be located; and in 1895 was declared legally dead by the Supreme Court of Massachusetts and of the United States. Seventeen years later she was found and legally restored to life, so that she might inherit $5,000 of the amount awarded to the Marblehead sea captain. What a surprise this must have been to Miss Allen, and what a surprise also for those who had expected to have her share of the inheritance!

Something like the exasperation of Miss Allen awaits the Sodomites, whose city was destroyed 2045 B. C. The Sodomites have been not only legally dead, but actually dead ever since the bitumen, sulphur and slime pits of the Jordan Valley covered their city; but, like Miss Allen, they will not forever remain dead. Ezekiel 16:55 says, "Sodom and her daughters shall return to their former estate and Samaria and her daughters shall return to their former estate."

The former estate of the Sodomites is in the valley of the Jordan at the head of the Dead

Sea; Samaria is in the same part of the world and thither in the resurrection, the Sodomites and Samaritans will come forth to claim for an everlasting inheritance the property they lost nearly 4,000 years ago. What a surprise this will be to them and to those who had expected to retain their inheritance. —The Wandering Jew. (C. J. Woolworth.)

Bulletin

1.—The Act of 1912 requires all candidates for the office of County Superintendent, except those who are now in office, to hold a State Certificate issued by the State Board of Examiners, which does not expire during the anticipated term of office.

2.—The applicant may qualify by taking a special examination to be held in the department of education, Frankfort, May 30-31, and June 5-6. This examination is in all respects equivalent to the examination for the regular State Certificate.

3.—The applicant may qualify by taking the regular State Examination, June 20-21, either in the county in which the applicant resides or in Frankfort, before the State Board of Examiners.

4.—Applicants may qualify after nominations are made in the August Primary. 5.—Incumbents in office, under the law, are qualified by virtue of their past tenure of office, to run for re-election without further examination.

President of Company Testifies in Government Suit

New York, May 13.—The United States steel corporation, as an industrial befaciitor was the subject of today's testimony of James A. Farrell, its president, who was a witness for the defense in the government dissolution suit against the corporation.

He said the corporation manufactured cotton ties for cotton growers of the south because its competitors found the business unattractive and had abandoned it. He said it always gave preference to government work over the neglect of other business.

It had rushed an order of steel piles to New Orleans to save levees from the flood. Since the organization, the witness said, it had raised the wages of the employee 28 1/2%.

Nace C. Hammack Captures Presidency of K. E. A. After Wrangling Debate Lasting Hours

Kentucky fighting blood showed itself yesterday in 1,000 or more school teachers and educators during the election of a president of the Kentucky Educational Association to the auditorium of the First Christian Church. After nearly an hour of wrangling, debating, oratory and other things that accompany the nomination and election, Nace C. Hammack, of Union County, was elected president of the association.

Never before in the history of the association has such an election been witnessed. Politics cropped out in bunches during the heated session. Charges of electioneering, while the vote was being taken, were made. Dissension was in the air everywhere; some were satisfied with the result others were not.

J. V. Chapman, Superintendent of Schools, of Franklin, and Prof. O. R. Melcher, of the State University, were the other candidates. Prof. Melcher withdrew after the vote had been taken and announced in favor of Hammack. After the vote had been announced giving Hammack a plurality, the delegates wrangled and debated for half an hour on the constitutionality of the election. Some contended that a majority vote was required to elect while others said that Hammack had been elected, inasmuch as Chairman McFarland had called the vote and asked for nomination for the office of first vice president.

New Official Heads

Other officers elected were: Edgar C. Richardson, of Frankfort, first vice president; W. B. King, of Bellvue, second vice president; Miss Virginia Lute, of Hickman, third vice president; Miss Lida E. Gardner, of Nicholas County, treasurer; J. W. Ireland and W. O. Hopper, directors. Louisville was selected as the permanent meeting place of the association.

Prizes Are Awarded

The first prize, $75 in gold, offered by the Commercial Club to the county sending the largest delegation to the Educational Convention, was awarded by the Board of Directors last night to Henderson County. Henderson County also won a banner offered by the association and a smaller banner offered as a district prize. Thirty prizes in all, nineteen of cash and eleven banners were awarded.

The Commercial Club prizes for attendance were based upon the number of teachers in the county, the distance traveled in coming to the convention and the size of the delegation.

COUNTRY CHILD'S DAY NOW IS HERE

Parents and Teachers Prepare For Newer Life.

ERECT MODERN SCHOOLS.

Up to Date Building and Equipment
Mean Added Interest to Both Teachers and Scholars in Educational Matters—A Model School Near Louisville With Domestic Science Room.

Wherever people are thinking definitely about the future they realize that the child is the greatest problem with which the state has to deal because it is the state's greatest asset. This is especially true in the rural districts, and both teachers and parents are getting ready for the newer life that promises to develop within the next twenty-five years or sooner.

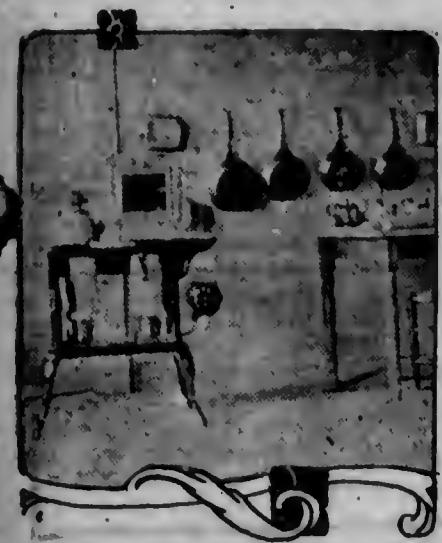

Four miles out of Louisville on one of the main turnpikes, where for years the people had been thoroughly satisfied with a poor schoolhouse and a poorer playground, a new building has gone up. This building was made possible by the district levying a special fifteen cent tax for two years and securing the help of the county board of education. When the public began to understand what was taking place it rallied to the support of the new school. This was made very plain when the Southern Brick and Tile company, which had a large plant in the neighborhood, added an extra acre of ground to the acre already secured by the trustee for the district.

The moment one enters the beautiful brick building with its soft green roof that harmonizes with the surroundings it is evident that it is an up to date school with a modern school equipment, for a sanitary drinking fountain is the first thing that catches the eye. The building has two beautiful schoolrooms perfectly lighted and equipped with modern single desks. Two ample cloakrooms are immediately in front of the classrooms and open into the main hall, while at one end of the building there is a cozy rest room for teachers and pupils, with a light, pleasant little library. Both of the classrooms are arranged so that they may be turned into one huge room, while the teachers' platforms can be joined and become a stage with the library and rest room as dressing rooms for the same. This simple device makes it possible to use the school for entertainments and as a perfect social center for the community.

Down in the big, airy basement is the modern heating plant, a gasoline engine and tank that supplies the water for the building. In this same basement there are two big rooms, one of which is equipped with twelve work benches for the manual training class. The other room of the basement is equipped to handle a class of eight girls in domestic science.

It might seem in looking over this school, with its perfect equipment and its splendid grounds, its huge cistern and its deep well, to furnish perfect drinking water for the children, as if the cost would have been excessive. Yet the whole equipment, including gasoline engine, domestic science outfit, manual training benches and tools, cost only $3,750.

There is one final point that should be touched and touched upon definitely, and that is the effect of this building and equipment upon the two teachers. Last season when they realized that this dream was to come true they both went to a summer school, one taking a summer course in domestic science, the other in manual training.

TRAIN YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS RIGHT

Don't Let Them Waste Time on Useless Studies.

WHAT CAN YOU EXPECT?

A Boy Trained For a Profession Is Not
Apt. to Be Contented or Successful as a Farmer—Yet Agriculture Is Quite as Important as the Classics or the "Learned" Professions.

Could you expect to rear a fine trotting horse or a good steady farm animal if you sent the beast in its early youth to a man who trained a stableful of fancy saddle stock? Can you expect your boy to go through the ordinary rural high school and have him "say bitched" on the farm? These propositions are identical. The average county high school holds up ideals and teaches topics that will necessarily lead the boy to sigh for a city career in the learned professions, so called.

Are you and I to blame? Of course we are. It is only necessary for the parent, the taxpayers, the everyday folks who hold the purse strings to say: "Here, we have had enough of an education that is so old that it is musty—an education that is all books. Give our children an education that fits them for life here at home."

This new education that will fit people for life is coming, but it is coming too slowly in the country. Our very best young blood is being siphoned out of the country and into the city. The cities do not need this fine new blood; the country does.

It is quite easy to say that the cry is rising, "Back to the farm." But it is not at all easy for the city man to go—in fact, the city man, the man bred and born in a big city, can hardly go back to the soil with any degree of certainty that he will succeed. He lacks the technical part of farm work that comes through daily contact with live, growing things, that contact which the country boy has had since the day he first began to notice things.

If these statements seem at all too strong simply pick up the Kentucky Educational Directory of 1912. Turn to the list of county high schools on page 84 and run through them. Out of about 180 approved high schools 114 are classical or English high schools and only thirty-six are scientific high schools.

Just so long as our country boys are pushed through schools that are classical in their tendencies just so long will our rural population drift cityward, for their education has developed them most carefully for that life.

IF YOUR BOY IS TO FARM TRAIN HIM FOR A FARMER.

IF YOUR BOY IS TO BE A PROFESSIONAL MAN TRAIN HIM IN THAT DIRECTION.

THIS IS 1913.

Would you plant and harvest as in 1850? Would you light your house as in 1850? Would you cook over the fire as in 1850?

Would you use a "muzzle loader" as in 1850?

Would you breed razorbacks as in 1850?

If everything on your farm and in your home bears the mark of 1813 why will you insist upon a school that was planned in 1850?

If your children are to live and earn a living in 1913 would it not be better to give them a 1913 education?

BY ALL MEANS.

Superintendent Barker has the right idea. He proposes to establish an agricultural course in the West Liberty high school. That should have been done at the outset. Wonder if there be any who are so shortsighted as to oppose? We hope not. An awful howl would be raised if some one should propose to take history, grammar or civics out of the curriculum. Agriculture is just as important as either of these.—Editorial, Pickering Valley Courier.

"Takes us some time to tral... a girl," remarked the head of the large department store. "And then you see a lot of girls through marriage." "Yes; but things even up. A lot of girls get tired of their husbands and come back to us."	A little four-year-old girl was walking with her mother, when a caterpillar, the first she had ever seen, crawled in front of them. GOSPEL MEETINGS

Attracting Large Crowds. Singing Inspiring. Preaching Practical

The Snively Park meeting conducted at the Armory by the Christian church is attracting large audiences each night. Evangelist Geo. L. Snively is a splendid Gospel preacher, and preaches plain but powerful sermons. He possesses a strong but genial personality that readily appeals to those who come in contact with him, whether they hear him in the pulpit or talk with him personally. Miss Lucile May Park, who is conducting the music and Bible Training Class, is one of the most effective workers that have been in the city for a long time. Her clear, well trained voice makes her solo work of a high order, and under her leadership the singing by the large chorus and the audience is most inspiring. She is conducting a class in Bible Training for children each afternoon that is being attended by nearly a hundred children and is accomplishing splendid results.

Nothing but good can come from the work these workers are doing, and the people of our city will not be slow to take advantage of the opportunity the Christian church is affording them by bringing such a team here.

Preparations are being made for a much larger Sunday school next Sunday, when all services of the Christian church will be held at the Armory. The membership of this splendid church is working faithfully, supporting every effort of the evangelists and local pastor, Howard J. Brazelton.

Took Mother Literally.

Marian pointed to the glass or cup when she wished a drink, uttering inarticulate sounds intended to convey her desire. She was old enough to talk some, but she had never been taught to ask for a drink. Mother said to her: "When you want a drink, Marian, you say, 'Mamma, or papa, or Hazel, or Mildred, drink.' The next time Marian wished a drink she pointed to the cup and said: "Mamma, papa, Hazel, Mildred, drink-inky-ink-ink."

100-Year-Old Church.

The nine hundredth anniversary of the opening for service of the Church of Greensted, Essex, built of oak trees split in half fifty-four years before the Norman conquest, occurred recently. A special celebration is proposed.—London Mail.

Wife's Ashes as an Ornament.

An ingenious method of disposing of the ashes of a cremated body has to be recorded. After a woman had been cremated the husband took the ashes to a chemist for the purpose of extracting the iron, which he is now wearing set in his ring, as one would wear a diamond.

Wasted Example.

An old lady leaving church after a service which had been attended by a crowded congregation, was heard to say: "If everybody else would only do as I do, and stay quiet in their seats till everyone else has gone out, there would not be such a crush at the doors!"—Milwaukee Sentinel.
